> A statistic shows golf tourism has contributed to more than 21 billion dollars globally in 2021, and this figure is projected to grow at more than 7 percent rate over the next decade.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

The newly constructed three-storied Savar Golf Club Mosque was inaugurated recently. GOC and Savar Area Commander of 9th Infantry Division Major General Mizanur Rahman Shamim along with Chairman of Radiant Pharmaceuticals Limited and Executive Director of Zahedee Foundation Nasser ShahrearZahedee unveiled the plaque of the mosque.

Foreword

Dear readers,

Have you ever wondered over the fact that golf is not just a sport, but a major earning source in the tourism sector in any developed country. A statistic shows golf tourism has contributed to more than 21 billion dollars globally in 2021, and this figure is projected to grow at more than 7 percent rate over the next decade. These statistics underline the impact that golf has on economies and lives of people apart from the sport's other beneficial aspects. Unfortunately, the golf tourism in Bangladesh is still an untapped market with a huge potential. In fact tourism in Bangladesh is one of the most underrated sectors of our economy despite having so much to offer to the world.

Thanks to the travel and food vloggers, people across the globe now know more about our rich culture and heritage than ever before. Imagine the impact these vlogs could have if we could incorporate our golfing destinations on their itinerary by having an agreement with the premier hotels in Dhaka, Chattogram and other major cities.

We believe this could be a great way to showcase our golf tourism potential by reaching out to a wider global audience through this non-institutional tourism Initiative.

Hoping that the concerned authorities would take note of this.

Till then, keep reading TheGolfHouse.

GOLFING
IN THE HIMALAYAS

David McLay Kidd designed the course at Gokarna Forest Golf Resort in 1999 and it is the first 18-hole Nepalese layout. Set against the backdrop of the majestic snow capped Himalayan Mountains; the course is routed through a section of the ancient Gokarna Forest where many of the stately trees date back some 200 years.

From the black tees - there are four sets of tees - Gokarna Forest stretches out to 6,755 yards. It's not the longest course in Asia but it is of sufficient length and challenge to host the Surya Nepal Masters which attracts many of the leading pros from India and Pakistan. Gokarna Forest opens up in a most inviting manner from an attractive elevated tee with the mountains as the backcloth. The opener and the next three holes take you deep into the forest before you finally emerge from the valley and into a flat plain created by the holy Bhagmati River. From here at the 5th, the course takes on an entirely different but equally absorbing look and feel. The 8th is one of Asia's most challenging par threes that measures whopping 225 yards from the tips. The unusual crescent shaped green wraps its way around an enormous sleeper faced bunker that dominates the perspective and a series of crisscrossing streams make this one-shotter even more daunting.

If you are lucky enough to visit Nepal and play here at Gokarna Forest, keep a look out for the mischievous monkeys as you wander through the forest and, if you are lucky, you may catch a glimpse of the coy chital deer which roam freely or even an Indian Flying

Fox gliding from tree to tree. Undoubtedly a round at Gokarna Forest is an enchanting and totally unforgettable experience. In fact it's sheer delight.

Crafting a harmony between functionality and brand identity

Briefly tell us about Minimal Ltd's background.
It's 2016, when six young minds with different educational backgrounds have come together to build a meaningful thing that inspires them, cherishes their dreams and creates solvency, by allowing creative gestures. 7 years after the inception of Minimal Limited, we have a greater vision to become the foremost lifestyle brand, introducing a great way of living.
Minimal is uniquely identified with sensible design thinking and a connection to heritage and culture. Our goal is to make your space feel connected and alive, while maintaining balance and harmony, by having less but meaningful items.

> "Our goal was to create an environment where individuals wouldn't feel like they're just coming to work, but rather experience a sense of repose and inspiration."

MINIMAL

What was the client's requirement from the project?
The project had specific requirements such as implementing an open office concept with Milvik's global theme while ensuring energy efficiency. We tried to deliver a fully operational solution that would meet the client's expectations. When they approached us, they were already paying the rent of that commercial space, so we had to deliver the whole project with in 33 days. Also, we managed to complete the project within the tight budget that was provided to us.

When did the project start and how long did it take to complete?
The project at Milvik's Head Office commenced in early April 2022 and concluded 33 days later in May 2022.

How much area does the project cover?
Covering a floor area of 3400 square feet, Milvik's office strategically positioned in one of the busiest commercial hub of Dhaka.

As an architect, how do you use elements to turn spaces into places where people want to work?
We strongly believe that a peaceful ambiance has a positive impact on employees. Our office interior design includes spacious open areas with ample lighting, comfortable ergonomic furniture, and inviting warm color schemes. Our goal was to create an environment where individuals wouldn't feel like they're just coming to work, but rather experience a sense of repose and inspiration.

Tell us about the idea and concept behind the project.
Milvik Bangladesh Limited, as a company they deal with insurance & health services, embodying trust and connections, which we effectively conveyed through the incorporation of their brand colors. Our design approach harmoniously fused aesthetics with their brand identity, highlighting the company's values to their customers and clients. Another pivotal aspect was the significance of natural light. As an consultant we emphasized the need to preserve the prominence of natural lighting alongside artificial illumination during daytime hours. Thus, our objective was to optimize the utilization of natural light for energy efficiency. In addition, we aimed to create a pleasant working atmosphere that would lessen the stress on staff. We carefully planned the office's layout to make sure that every space, including the dining area, conference rooms, and open workstations, radiated a friendly atmosphere that was free of clutter or monotony. This project was driven by the underlying goal of fostering a sense of warmth and openness throughout the workspace, which informed our design decisions at every step.

What type of materials have you used in this project? Are they locally sourced?
For the workstation leg, we opted for mild steel to ensure robust support and stability. The table tops were carefully crafted using pre-laminate particle board or lamination board, which not only offers durability but also adds an aesthetically pleasing finish. To create separation between workspaces, we employed perforated metal mesh, providing an artistic touch while maintaining an open and collaborative atmosphere. In terms of lighting, we decided on linear fixtures, ensuring consistent illumination throughout the space. For a touch of nature, we incorporated vertical green elements using biodegradable geobags, offering a refreshing and eco-friendly setting. Lastly, we considered easy-to-clean colors, streamlining maintenance and ensuring the longevity of the design. These material choices were made with utmost consideration for functionality, aesthetics, and environmental consciousness.

The functions are articulated in such a way, that there seems an easy, fluid & functional flow of the hierarchy of spaces. This fluidity is achieved, because of the rhythm that is generated within the circulation and efficient zoning, where public, semi public and work area is defined.

Can you tell us about the segmentation of the project?
The project has been segmented into three distinct zones, each designed to serve different purposes. The first zone is the public zone, intended for everyone entering the premises. This zone encompasses spaces like the welcoming waiting area or lobby and the reception zone, creating a favorable first impression for visitors. Moving on to the second zone, we have the Privileged zone, which includes areas such as the meeting room, dining room, and the prayer room. These spaces provide a balance between privacy and accessibility, catering to the needs of both employees and guests. Lastly, we have the private zone, which is restricted to specific employees. This zone comprises individual workspaces and designated meeting rooms, ensuring confidentiality and concentration.

The functions are organized in a way that creates a simple, smooth, and practical flow between different spaces. This flow is achieved by carefully planning the circulation and zoning, clearly defining the public, semi-public, and work areas.

Tell us about the interior details, color palate, furniture and lighting.
The interior of the space is designed with attention to detail, incorporating a pleasing color palette that compliments the brand's colors. To avoid a gloomy atmosphere, the ceiling is painted in a dark tone. The furniture includes ample table space with drawers for organization, along with a cozy lounge area. To create a warm ambiance, soft and warm lighting is chosen, while white light is used for workstations.

Any particular construction detail you want to discuss?
The reception area has been thoughtfully adorned to reflect the brand's identity, leaving a lasting impression on visitors. The incorporation of greenery through High-Pressure Laminate adds a touch of nature, enhancing the overall aesthetic appeal of the space.
